Eighteen years ago, we embarked on this meaningful journey of providing care for the elderly, the sick and the poor in our community. We set ourselves a clear mission and vision: As a Christian community hospital of excellence, we would show God’s love and compassion by providing quality, holistic and compassionate care.

In these 18 years, this mission and vision has guided us well, allowing us to serve the community from the heart; with compassion, empathy and sensitivity.

Today, however, we find ourselves in a changed environment. We now serve a community of patients who have different needs and different aspirations. Likewise, the communities that support us have changed in their profiles and their goals. Finally, the healthcare environment has changed.

In order for us to continue to engage our communities meaningfully and faithfully, and to touch many lives in these communities, we needed to revisit our mission and vision to ensure that we remain relevant in the intermediate and long-term future.

In November 2013, our CEO led his team on a joint visioning exercise for St Luke’s Hospital and St Luke’s ElderCare.

This new mission and vision is:

VISION
Transforming Community Care

MISSION
A Christian healthcare provider enriching lives in the communities
In what turned out to be a very rewarding exercise involving some 350 staff and board members working through 20 consultation sessions over a period of more than three months, the teams from St Luke’s Hospital and St Luke’s ElderCare co-created a shared mission and vision that would allow us to move forward with conviction and passion.

A new reflection of our Christian faith

We feel it is important to reflect in our new mission the starting point of our special commitment: Our Christian faith. We are a Christian charity, and many of our staff and board members have chosen to join us as part of their calling to serve God.

We accept and embrace the many with different religious beliefs who have chosen to journey with us. They have chosen to join us because they find affinity with our culture, our value system, and the way we care for our patients and clients - all of which spring from our Christian belief.

A new mission to enrich life

Our new mission also goes right to the heart of what we seek to do: To enrich lives.

What we aspire to do today and tomorrow when we receive patients at our hospital and clients at our eldercare centres is to endeavour to touch their lives so that they will leave us in a better and healthier state, regardless of their physical, spiritual, and emotional state of health when they first came under our care.

Working together with the communities, we will heal lives, improve health and inspire hope. I would like to express my appreciation in advance to all the partners who will join us on this journey.

As we create a new model in community care, the lives of our patients, the lives of our clients, and the inner self of all of us involved in the process, will be richly transformed in many ways.

Jesus said, “I have come that they may have life and have it abundantly.” John 10:10.

The mission of Jesus is to give people abundant life. Going forward, this will also be the mission of St Luke’s: To carry out transforming care that will enrich the lives of many in the communities.

Dr Peng Chung Mien
Chairman, St Luke’s Hospital
To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven.

For St Luke’s, this is a season to plant. Last year, the senior management embarked on an envisioning exercise, which culminated in a new vision and a new mission.

Our new mission is to enrich the life of every patient who passes through St Luke’s. This will require us to change the way we deliver care. We will now have to work more closely with all the communities that support us to allow our patients and clients to benefit from a wider and richer range of care services.

To realise our mission, we will have to integrate the various types of care services so that care can be delivered seamlessly not just within St Luke’s Hospital, but also through our partners in the communities. Instead of simply caring for our patients, we will care for them in partnership with their caregivers. This will mean taking into account the specific circumstances and resources of each patient so that we can provide more patient-centric care.

Besides planting a new future for ourselves, we have also been building in other important ways.
In March 2014, we opened a new wing, making St Luke’s Hospital a 233-bed community hospital. With the new wing, St Luke’s Hospital can now take in more patients who require rehabilitative and sub-acute treatment.

Other facilities were also enhanced. These include a bigger pharmacy, a new chapel, a new day rehab centre and a new outdoor mobility park to aid therapists in their rehabilitation programmes for patients.

But these represent only the ‘hardware’. St Luke’s has always been driven by our “heartware”- our dedicated staff who provide compassionate care and our care programmes designed to meet specific needs of our patients.

In June 2013, we embarked on the Dementia Care Project. So far, more than 400 dementia patients have benefitted from this specialised care. About 80% of these patients have shown functional improvement. More than 80% of their caregivers have reported improvement in behaviour management. Under our Back on Your Feet Programme, rehab patients achieved significant improvement in their functional and physical capabilities. They have gained greater independence, as they are more confident to perform many of the day-to-day activities on their own.

Looking ahead, we are excited by the possibilities that the changing healthcare landscape has created for us. This new landscape offers both challenges and opportunities. Despite of all these changes, one thing remains constant: our commitment to our patients’ well being. This commitment is a key part of all our programmes and initiatives to enrich the lives of our patients in the coming year.

- 41% Stroke patients

*5 points or more in improvement as measured by the Frenchay Activities Index
Caring for our patients and their caregivers is the focal point of what we do here at St Luke’s Hospital. This year, we directed much of this focus on innovation in quality, service, safety and care delivery.

Dementia Care

In June 2013, we embarked on the Dementia Care Project to provide better management of patients with dementia in a community hospital setting. The project was driven by a multidisciplinary team comprising doctors, nurses, therapists and social workers. In all, the project involved 158 of our inpatients and 255 of our outpatients.

The project yielded highly promising results with 82% among the caregivers reporting improvement in behaviour management in these patients and 78% of hospital patients showing functional improvement during their stay in St Luke’s Hospital. Furthermore 95% of the caregivers said they were satisfied or very satisfied with the interventions offered by the dementia care team.

To enhance care for patients with dementia, St Luke’s Hospital will provide a purpose-built 26-bed ward that will cater for both male and female patients with dementia. The ward will incorporate dementia-friendly amenities for social and diversional therapy. This ward is scheduled to be completed in the latter part of 2014.

Quality Care

We regularly encourage our staff to provide compassionate and quality care to our patients. From our quality day last year, we had the theme: Patient Centeredness: Because You Matter. The event sought to encourage our staff to learn from one another, exchange ideas and embrace a paradigm shift from doing things for or to patients towards planning together with patients and their families.

A pledge campaign and a collage competition were staged to encourage staff to think about how they could contribute towards patient centeredness. Distinguished guest speakers were invited to inspire and educate staff on patient centeredness, while staff from various departments shared how their services impact the community.

As part of its focus on quality, St Luke Hospital published research on hip fracture integrated care path in the November issue of the Annals of the Academy of Medicine, Singapore. The one-year research was carried out on 162 patients. The results showed that St Luke’s hip fracture care path resulted in a shorter length of stay, while yielding the same functional and clinical outcomes in terms of complications and readmissions after the patient is discharged from a community hospital. The care path has since been implemented throughout St Luke’s Hospital to benefit all patients with a hip fracture.
CARING FOR OUR PATIENTS

Back On Your Feet Programme

Based on our assessment of our patients, our therapists realised that while many of our patients were capable of performing various daily tasks, they did not do so on their own. They were fearful and lack the confidence to perform the tasks unassisted. Our therapists designed a Back on Your Feet programme to address these issues. The programme provided our patients with physical, balance and endurance training. It also requires the patients to practise and gain experience of carrying out the real life tasks. The peer support also contributed to them gaining the much needed confidence.

Patients who participated in the Back on Your Feet programme had twice the level of improvement in their functional and physical capabilities compared to those who did not participate in the programme.

Road To Recovery After A Stroke

At 66 years old, Tan Ann Seng was happy working as a handyman. He loved the independence that came with the job and enjoyed making friends from interacting with his clients.

All that changed one fateful day in August 2009 when he suffered a stroke. With that, he lost mobility on the right side of his body as well as coherence in his speech. After a week of treatment at a hospital he was referred to St Luke’s Hospital for further rehabilitation.

When Mr Tan first arrived at St Luke’s Hospital, he was unable to move. His family feared that he might not recover from the stroke. Adding to their worries, the family began experiencing financial difficulties, as Mr Tan was the sole breadwinner. The medical social worker at St Luke’s Hospital assisted the family and was able to help them find subsidies to ease their financial burden.

With financial worries eased, Mr Tan was able to concentrate on his recovery. He put his heart into his rehabilitation treatment at St Luke’s Hospital and he slowly regained his mobility over the course of three weeks. In addition, he was enrolled in the Back on Your Feet programme to help him in his daily activities. As part of the programme, he would venture out into his neighbourhood in the company of other patients under the close supervision of the therapists.

Mr Tan has since recovered and is now employed by St Luke’s Hospital as a Service Ambassador. Every day, he happily greets patients when they visit the hospital for treatment and helps visitors find their way around the hospital.

Besides working, Mr Tan also volunteers part of his day at St Luke’s, encouraging stroke patients who are enrolled in the Back on Your Feet programme.

BUILDING CAPACITY FOR THE FUTURE

In Singapore, the demand for healthcare services is set to increase as the population grows and ages. Meeting the needs of our patients will become more challenging. To address this, St Luke’s Hospital has increased the capacity of the hospital and work is underway to enhance existing facilities.

Our New Wing Opens

St Luke’s Hospital opened its new wing after two years of construction work. The opening took place on 25 March 2014 in a ceremony officiated by Health Minister Mr Gan Kim Yong.

Following the renovation, St Luke’s Hospital is now a 233-bed community hospital equipped with a bigger pharmacy, day rehab centre, chapel and an outdoor mobility park. The new wing also houses two new wards with piped-in oxygen and built-in vacuum regulator for suctioning at every bedside as well as isolation rooms for infection control.

With these facilities in place, St Luke’s Hospital can now take in more patients who require rehabilitative and sub-acute treatment.

Phase Two Enhancement

Under the phase two enhancement project, a new 26-bed dementia ward, new paying class wards and larger outpatient clinic will be built. All the existing wards will also be renovated. The wards will be designed to use space more efficiently. Open wards will have windows installed to improve readiness to handle the haze and all the wards will be equipped with piped-in oxygen.

The new outpatient area will feature a retail area and greater capacity for doctor consultation, nursing and allied health services.
RECOGNISING OUR STAFF

Healthcare Humanity Award

The annual Healthcare Humanity Award recognises healthcare workers who are inspirational role models. It honours healthcare professionals who display exemplary courage, compassion, dedication and selfless contributions in the course of their work.

We are proud of Ms Jasmine Yong, Assistant Manager - Medical Social Worker who received the Healthcare Humanity Award 2014 in recognition of her dedication and exceptional care for patients at St Luke’s Hospital.

MOH Nurses’ Merit Awards

Ms Tan Yuh Lin, Nurse Manager, received the award for exemplary nursing. The MOH Nurses’ Merit Award is given to nurses who demonstrated consistent and outstanding performance for the past three years, participated in professional advancement courses for their development and who promote a professional image of nursing.
Our people are our greatest asset and our pride. In FY 13 / 14, our continuous effort to ensure and provide quality was affirmed by the many awards and accolades received by our staff.

Awards and Accolades

St Luke’s Hospital was awarded the Merit Award at the ILTC (Intermediate and Long Term Care) Quality Festival 2013 for its Enhanced Constraint Induced Movement Therapy (eCIMT) project. Team members Ms Tan Lee Ling, Gribson Chan, Ms Nur Musilha Bte Mohsain, Ms Fong Sin Dee, A/Prof Tan Boon Yeow and Dr Chia Tee Hien were honoured for their success in modifying a 35-hour programme to a 20-hour programme with 95% certainty that the outcome will be as good as the original programme.

In the eCIMT programme, patients are required to undergo an intensive therapy treatment for a period of two weeks consisting of five sessions of therapy per week with each session lasting two hours. This is a reduction from the standard 3.5 hours. The eCIMT programme shortened the time needed for patients to regain strength and mobility of their upper limbs.

Singapore Health Quality Service Award 2014

The Singapore Health Quality Service Award 2014 (SHQSA) is a nationwide award to recognise and celebrate the exemplary efforts of healthcare professionals in service excellence. St Luke’s Hospital is proud to have 23 of its staff receive the award.

Over the years, we have forged close relationships with our partners and the community. This close bond has allowed us to tap on a rich spectrum of resources to deliver quality care to our patients within the community.

As recognised wound care experts in the intermediate and long-term care sector, the nurses at St Luke’s Hospital are continually sharing wound management techniques with nurses in the healthcare industry. Leveraging on its strength in the field, St Luke’s Hospital held its 7th St Luke’s Hospital Wound Conference at Fort Canning Lodge. The two-day wound conference is the perfect platform for nurses and professionals to gather and share their best practices in wound care management. Speakers from Australia, Japan, Malaysia, Singapore and the USA presented to 315 local and overseas healthcare professionals from both public and private sectors.

St Luke’s Hospital and National University Hospital signed a memorandum of understanding in May 2013 to facilitate the continuity of patient care between the two organisations. The ongoing collaboration covers areas in clinical care, education and research, and the sharing of a common clinical system.

Our partners also helped us in fund raising. In 2013/14 we are grateful to receive continued support from Wesley Methodist Church through their Easter Sunday offering and Methodist Girls’ School BandAge Concert. They raised $240,000 and nearly $80,000 respectively.

After being beneficiaries of Charity Bike ‘n’ Blade for the past two years, St Luke’s Hospital organised its own cycling event, St Luke’s Charity Cycle. The event drew enthusiastic response from about 60 cyclists, attracted sponsorship from 14 companies and brought in $215,000 in donations.

Meanwhile a special event by the hospital - a charity fundraising concert featuring Bob Fitts held at Bartley Christian Church - raised $60,000. Bartley Christian Church also invited Mr Foong Daw Ching, the Chairman of St Luke’s Hospital, to share about the work of the hospital during St Luke’s Sunday. The collection following the sharing raised over $30,000 for the hospital.

We are very thankful to the family of Mdm Sun Yee, the late principal of the Singapore Academy of Art and award-winning Singapore artist, for donating her precious works for a charity auction as well as to Mr David Ong, MP for Jurong GRC, who graced the event as the Guest-of-Honour. The event raised $49,000 for the hospital.

We are also blessed by school and church partners who together raised over $210,000 for St Luke’s Hospital and St Luke’s ElderCare during the last Chinese New Year through the Love and Share A HongBao project.

Finally, we would like to thank the more than 200 regular volunteers who devoted their time and energy to help St Luke’s Hospital in a host of activities such as administration, diversional therapy activities, fundraising events and patient devotions. Their dedication is invaluable and St Luke’s Hospital is indeed indebted to all the donors and volunteers who helped fulfil its mission of caring for the elderly sick.
