St Luke's Community Clinic is a one-stop clinic to meet community healthcare needs. We provide comprehensive care, with a wide range of services and a multi-disciplinary team.

We aim to holistically manage not just the clinical, but also the psychological, social and spiritual needs of our patients.

St Luke's Community Clinic is a one-stop clinic with a wide range of services.

St Luke's Community Clinic coordinates care of multiple medical conditions.

Primary care eye clinic

Together with National University Hospital (NUH) Ophthalmology (Eye) Department, our primary care eye clinic aims to make specialist eye care accessible to the community. Services include:

- Optometry and lens prescription
- Slit lamp examination
- Tonometry and glaucoma screening

Cases requiring further investigations and treatment will be referred to NUH.

Our multi-disciplinary team, including doctors, nurses and dietitians, provides holistic care.

Dementia care programme

Our multi-disciplinary dementia care team journeys alongside persons with dementia and their caregivers, helping to manage behaviours of concern, and to cope at home and in the community.

- Medical care (Family physician)
- Occupational therapy and behavioural management
- Caregiver education and training
- Care coordination and referral to community resources

Community mental wellness service

In collaboration with NUH Department of Psychological Medicine, we run a community psychiatry clinic for persons aged 25 and above to manage conditions such as anxiety and mood disorders, and promote mental well-being in the community. The clinic includes psychologist service.
